

MEZCAL AND TEQUILA

Mezcal and Tequila are two of the fastest growing spirits in North America. These Agave spirits differ in flavour profile and production. Tequila is produced solely from the Blue Weber agave, and Mezcal can be produced from several different agave plants with production only allowed in nine Mexican states. Both have become popular in cocktails and often enjoyed “straight up”. The smokey and artisanal nature of Mezcal is delighting spirit geeks and mixologist globally, while Reposado and Anejo Tequila in its finer and rare forms is taking on the nuances of high-end bourbons and single malt scotches. Dean Norris
