

NEW ENGLAND INDIA PALE ALES

Coming out of Vermont (the NE stands for New England) in the early 2010s, this new style has dominated the IPA category the last half decade or so. Also called Hazy or Juicy, it differs from regular IPAs by the use of oats and/or wheat in the grain bill. The hops employed often lead to tropical fruit or citrus flavours, and the colour is often bright yellow to orange, and always hazy. With usually less alcohol than other IPAs, they are eminently drinkable.
