

VODKA

White spirits never go out of fashion and are always in demand, particularly with the enormous thirst for cocktails right now, both in bars and to make at home. As vodka is consistently one of the top-selling spirits in Canada, it's no surprise that it's a category where we see a lot of entries every year – the joy for our judges though is that they're of increasingly high quality. Canadian grain vodkas are certainly very well represented, with winners from four different provinces, and one classic potato vodka from Poland joining the ranks. Linda Garson
